LIQUOR IS THE ISSUE

The "wets" in the States shouldn't be caught napping regarding the candidates in the United States legislature. This time the "wets" will bring one over and the prohibitionists will be in indeed singular that no issue in the campaign the saloon men and distillers have all their candidatesounce as in favor of the matter to a vote. We naturally suppose the "wets" would want themselves of business by law, all could quit any time process. It's an election. Take it from us—the old gentleman in the corner. There are two sets of in most every section prohibition forces out when camp she belongs to. We all happened in the last we know where stood in the right.

Temperance leaders the liquor men are their candidates, and among the other cure, if possible, of an amendment, some feature will it. A bill, or so are will be who power, to whom, to none.
